About Pamela

Pamela Burks motivates and inspires audiences to have more control of experiential living. With 30 + years in IT project, time and change management for teams and resources geographically dispersed around the world, Pamela successfully delivered mobile device applications and services for fortune 500 companies. In 2012, she transformed those skills into a Personal Development Coaching Practice and became an advocate for work-a-holic women to live life more fully through balance habits, goal attainment and functioning “in the moment” using change management techniques. Making habit and Mindset adjustments create opportunities for a YES! I Can! lifestyle.

A native Detroiter turned Southern Girl, Pamela lives and loves in the Orlando, FL area with her husband Christopher. Both avid Jazz fans, they are regulars at Jazz festivals across the US.
